RAISING THE STANDARD

Every day our goal is to find more ways to improve life in and around the bathroom and kitchen, sometimes in obvious ways, other times in more subtle ways. We examine everything and are willing to challenge everything. No matter how good our products are today, we know we can always be better tomorrow.

Not just "our standard," but "the standard" for living healthily, responsibly and beautifully everywhere. It's "the standard" we've set and reset since 1875. It is "the standard" that is reflected in every product we make and represented in our highest ambition and deepest commitment to our employees, partners, trade professionals and customers worldwide.

At American Standard, we raise the standard by making technologies and designs accessible.

OUR JOURNEY TOWARDS RAISING THE STANDARD

Rise of Public Health

In 1875, James Arnott and Francis J. Torrance founded Standard Manufacturing to make cast-iron water closets, washstands and bathtubs for the growing sanitation and indoor bathroom market.

The Growth of The Modern Bathroom

Standard Manufacturing, Dawes & Myler Manufacturing & Ahrens & Ott Manufacturing merged in 1899 to form Standard Sanitary, which spearheaded the modern bathroom market's expansion.

Expanding The Product Line

The company began selling a complete line of cast-iron enameled kitchen sinks in 1917 after a successful launch at the Pittsburgh Annual Exposition.

Mega Merger Forms One-Stop Shop

In late 1929, Standard Sanitary and American Radiator merged to form American Radiator &

Standard Sanitary Corporation, driving up demand for heating and plumbing products.

Peacetime Boom

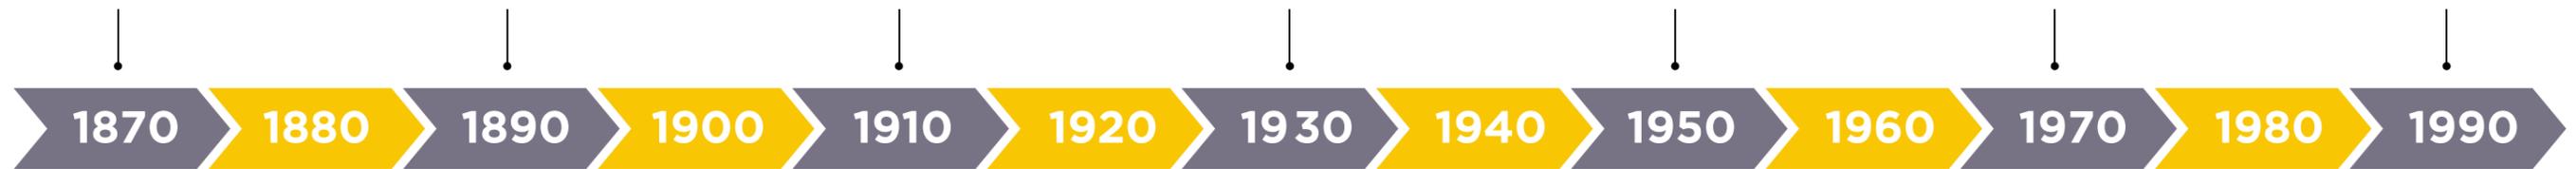

Post-WWII, demand for plumbing products grew with the recovery of housing industry. In 1951, American Standard moved into the kitchen; introducing steel sinks, steel walls, specialty cabinets, automatic dishwashers and electric food waste disposers.

Turbulent Times

Despite a turbulent economy, the company grew worldwide. By 1979, it became the world's largest plumbing manufacturer, operating in over 20 countries.

We Want You to Love Your Bathroom

American Standard acquired Porcher, a French based luxury brand and a German-based faucet brand called JADO, to offer stylized options to consumers.

The Sanitary Advantage

In 1883, Standard Manufacturing perfected a process to coat pulverized enamel onto hot castings to form a smooth, white surface that was easy to clean and resistant to water.

Cornering The Market

By 1900, Standard Sanitary had become the world's largest supplier of plumbing goods; producing more than 150 bathtubs per day.

The Bathroom Comes of Age

In 1926, color made its first appearance in bathroom fixtures from Standard Sanitary.

Supporting The War Effort

Company switched production to supply the armed forces with critical parts and munitions including the mold and castings for the B-29 Superfortress bomber, over 2.5 million hand grenades and 75 million cast-iron nose pieces for bombs.

New Products For a Modern World

American Standard introduced new innovations including the now ubiquitous "push and pull" faucets, slip-resistant bathtubs, odor-removing Vent-Away toilet systems, remote control drain pop-ups and ceramic disc valves promising leak-free faucets for life.

The Go-Go Days

In 1987, the company introduced Americast® - a game changing material that was lighter than cast-iron and more durable than enameled steel- and the Sensorium, the first tub with electronics that controlled in-home appliances.

TODAY

Fresh Ideas For a New Generation

In 2013, American Standard joined LIXIL, a global leader in products and services for housing and building projects, and houses a family of world-class brands including GROHE, INAX and DXV.
